

The Misdemeanors Bio

The Misdemeanors is a young, all-women indie rock band from Fayetteville, Arkansas. Lead singer Jessi Morrison, guitarist Milcah Hulen-Posnak, keyboardist Breanna McArdle, bassist Erin Funkhouser, and drummer Addison McArdle have been together since September of 2021. The Misdemeanors' sound is an arrangement of indie, pop, rock and roll, and sometimes a little punk. They came together in high school, when most of the members weren't even 18. They began with playing in their backyards for friends, but in mere weeks they began performing live all around Fayetteville. They have now played all over Arkansas and out-of-state, including at the 2023 FORMAT Festival, the 2022 and 2023 NWA Pride Festivals, and at venues such as George's Majestic Lounge and Railyard Live. Now, The Misdemeanors are much more than just a college band. The Misdemeanors is a female-fronted community of hundreds of supporters and creatives.
